

Stop Squeezing Home Owners

Washington families need a choice of homes they can afford, less traffic and better schools.

Let's face it: finding a home in Washington you can afford is not getting any easier. Working families are getting squeezed out. The result: families pushed away from living near neighborhood schools and job centers. That means more traffic, longer commutes and increased sprawl that hurts the environment.

We're the Washington REALTORS® (over 25,000 statewide) and we have solutions that will help our neighborhoods thrive.

It's time for action!

Schools and roads must be improved, but we need more homes working families can afford.

Logon to ItsAPriority.com

Tell our lawmakers to make it a priority—homes that working families can afford!

